

STOCKINGS FOR THE PRINCE.
A Beautiful Admirer Makes His Highness a Pair in Colors of Clan Club.
COME UP OVER KNEES AND FOLD.
W. C. Whitney Has a New Dogwood Creek Like the 200 He Gave Away for Xmas Presents—Footless Stockings, Box Bottom Trousers and Checked Coats the Newest Things For Men.

(Copyright, 1896, for The Times.)
The golf season started in with a rush the other day, when the Prince of Wales appeared upon the golfing grounds of his club with his imperial legs clad in stockings of the brightest plaid. The colors were the gay ones of the Clan Club, to which he belongs. They were not manufactured stockings, but were knitted ones. They reached to his knees, and were the handiwork of one of the Prince's titled lady friends. Who made the speech of presentation when the golf stockings were presented, and what the

"AT THE GOLF CLUB THE MEN PERSONALLY SUPERINTEND THE KNITTING."

Prince said in return are matters clouded in doubt. Nor is it recorded how long it took the fair knitter to work the four needles with the above-mentioned effect. Knitting a man's long stockings to the knee is no trifling job, as every old knitter will agree.

The golf season in this country took its impetus Christmas Day, when W. C. Whitney purchased the dog-wood, the Scotch, instead of sending us our golf sticks, are writing us for our dog-wood ones. The dog-wood has been very good for several years, and whether the dog-wood is a good stick, soon to die out, or whether it will become an established material, is a question that only the rest of the summer can decide.

Every golf player has his favorite golf stick. The selection is not governed by any known rule. "The stick feels better to the hand," is the only governing decision. When a golf player selects his stick and goes through a season's games triumphantly with it, he will not exchange it for another. "That is a good stick," said the sportsman dealer, "but it was sent back because it was too heavy. They have the smallest caddy on the field, and the little fellow, though sturdy as a Scot, gets weary under his load. Worse than that he gets top-heavy, and can't run without upsetting. A good caddy is supposed to fly with the ball. This poor fellow nearly died of mortification to find himself lagging behind his master in his efforts to keep on his feet in a run."

NO SPIKES.
There are new things this year in all aspects of golfing, the scientific, the ornamental and the healthful. Those who go in for the science of it are vastly pleased that the old-fashioned dog-wood is a good stick, and that the new ones are not quite so good, say the golf fiends, who must have whatever gives them the speediest and sportiest game, and the hostess help the player to the green.

The healthful golfers and the fiscal ones are greatly pleased by the discovery of the anti-wood stockings. These are for people who cannot bear wool next their feet in August weather. The new stockings are not as heavy as men's, and it is not likely that the golf legging will be wanted except by those who go in for all the newest things.

Men's golfing trousers have the box bottoms of riding suits. This box bottom is a broad band of mottled cloth.

going around the leg under the knee and buttoning tightly. It is very becoming to a well-turned calf, but something too awful to picture for one that isn't curved according to Hobart's line of leg beauty. The bloomer trouser will always be used by the men, because when seated they can pull it up over the knee and rest the muscles of the leg. But, really, it isn't as ultra-fashionable this year as the box bottom.

The weight of the golf trouser may be from three to five pounds. That of the shoes is from one to three pounds; generally a pound and a half the world over. The golfer of this season calculates weights very carefully, throwing useless articles overboard as impediments, when he knows he is going to struggle with wagon runs, stone fences and awful ditches. He wants to be light enough on his feet to leap, double up, bend over, twist and lift, and for this he wants but little here below. The less the better.

CLUB STOCKING.

The ornamental in golfing has found an outlet in the golf stocking, which appears this year in immense variety. Women have always had a fine selection, but men have been limited. This year they can choose between long and short, tight and loose, plain and plaid, and can even have little extras added in the way of fastenings. Garters or no garters, below the knee or above, rolled or flat, and visible garters or invisible.

The most popular of the golf stockings reaches far above the knee. It is long enough to suggest very short trousers, yet it is not to be worn its full length.

The weight of the golf trouser may be from three to five pounds. That of the shoes is from one to three pounds; generally a pound and a half the world over. The golfer of this season calculates weights very carefully, throwing useless articles overboard as impediments, when he knows he is going to struggle with wagon runs, stone fences and awful ditches. He wants to be light enough on his feet to leap, double up, bend over, twist and lift, and for this he wants but little here below. The less the better.

VOTES CAUGHT WITH HATS.
Crisp Bows Like Cleveland. Without Taking Off His Hat, but Has Pleasant Smile.
READ BY 'PHRENOLOGIST OF ACTIONS.'
Carlisle Boasts the Dignified Salute that Gladstone Labored Valiantly for Years to Attain—A Man Selling a Book of Bows for Political Boomerangs.

(Copyright, 1896, for The Times.)
A seedy-looking individual approached the private office of Mark Hanna, McKinley's manager.

"What d'yer want?" asked the custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

"What's the name of it?" queried the custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

"What's the name of it?" queried the

custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

"What's the name of it?" queried the

custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

"What's the name of it?" queried the

custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

"What's the name of it?" queried the

custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

"What's the name of it?" queried the

custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

"What's the name of it?" queried the

custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

"What's the name of it?" queried the

custodian of the ante-room.

"I want to sell him," with a jerk of the thumb towards Hanna's room—"a book for McKinley. It is the book of the age, boy, and you want to let me to explain it to the boss. If you don't you'll lose your job. I tell you, young fellow, that this book's the book of the century, the invaluable assistant of every man running for office and the blue quon of the man who wants to be elected."

Shell Here's an item that'll Side-Combs, hold out perhaps for the 6c. pair. day. Florentine Shell Side-Combs, with ridge, bent or scalloped tops. Nearest thing in color to real shell, 3 1-2 inches long, perfectly cut and finely finished. Actually worth 12 1-2c. pair. For Monday only, 6c. pair.

meet you as you should be met in this line. We minister to your wants also as should be. We give you proper quality—proper values—proper prices. You show best judgment and appreciation in our daily increasing patronage.

SPECIAL HOUR ITEMS. 9 to 10.

FIRE SCREENS.
Fancy Fire-Screen, large size, in pink, lavender, white, red, blue, yellow, and many combination colors, latest Japanese design, regular 10c. quality.

Special One-Hour Sale, 9 to 10, at 6c. each. Only one to each customer.

WRAPPERS.
25 dozen the choicest kind of Genesee Percale Wrappers, tight fitting, lined in light and medium colors, also in navy and white and black and white assorted stripes, our regular 75c. quality.

Special One-Hour Sale, 10 to 11, 50c. Only one to each customer.

WASH GOODS.

Regular beauties and sensible novelties hobnob with quiet and sombre designs and colorings to the gratification of every dress and waist desire of maid or matron.

New lot of Closely-Woven Dress Duck, white ground, with colored stripes and figures, new designs, regular 12 1-2c. goods, 10c. the yard.

Entirely New Solid Color Pique, light blue, pink, navy, black, and French blue, 11c. the yard.

Fine French Pique, heavy and serviceable, splendid for bicycle suits, blue mixed, gray mixed, brown mixed, 25c. the yard.

30-inch Solid Color Denim, French and navy blue, green, olive, and red, 20c. the yard.

One case Fine Domestic Zephyrs, the regular 12 1-2c. goods, all the new choicest patterns, absolutely fast colors, 8c. the yard.

6-inch Printed Marcella, splendid weight, fine coloring, 12 1-2c. the yard.

Lotus Dimities, rich, self-colored lace stripes, with the very best of color combinations, Dresden effects, 12 1-2c. the yard.

Jacquet Duchesse—This dainty fabric is as well liked as the former goods costing twice as much. All the new French designs and colorings, 12 1-2c. the yard.

Jacquette d'Alsace, light as down, fast colors, very handsome all-over Dresden designs, 12 1-2c. the yard.

Chantilly Lace Gause, very light and airy, a charming fabric, 12c. the yard.

Fine Organdie Suisse, the queen of cotton stuffs, very handsome Dresden and Persian designs on linen grounds, 11c. the yard.

LADIES' NECK BOWS.

There is nothing adds so much to one's appearance as pretty neck dressing. A handsome waist looks ordinary when the Scarf or Bow is not up-to-date. We tell of an arrival of New Neckwear, selected with an eye to style—and economy.

Ladies' Red and Blue Shield Bows, fine grade satin, 50c. each.

Ladies' Grass Linen Bows, new shape, 25c.

Ladies' Satin Trimmed Scarfs, 11 1-2 inches long, black, red, navy, and grass linen, 25c.

Ladies' Heavy Satin Club Ties, navy and red, 50c.

Ladies' Shield Bows, of fine satin, for high turn-down collar, red, black, and navy, 10c.

by! So long! Come again when you've got something to need."

The brief wave of the McKinley hat, the "Sun is shining! So am I! And I love I am bowing to everybody who knows me."

Money-Saving Store News.
Folks call this store a mint—we coin many Bargains. There must be Bargains in business, but that which is classed as Bargains must depend upon the approval of the public. Ours are proven daily—that's why such success.

MILLER & RHOADS

Great Sale of Housefurnishings.

We place on sale to-morrow an immense lot of Housefurnishing Goods at prices that will show that it's as easy and simple to sell Housefurnishings right as it is to sell Dress Goods and Silks right.

9-in. Dusting Brushes—35c. value—25c. each. Ebonyed Handle Furniture Dusters—25c. value—19c. each. Cocoa Scrub Brushes—regular 5c. grade—3c. each.

10-in. Cocoa Scrub Brushes—regular 8c. grade—5c. each. 11-in. Cocoa Scrub Brushes—regular 12c. grade—8c. each. Shoe Brushes with Daubers—9c. value—10c. each.

Nickel-Plated Cuspidors—17c. value—10c. each. Earthen Cuspidors, White Ground, Stippled Color, with Floral Decoration—15c. value—8c. each.

12-in. Berry Bowls, Cut-Glass design, 17c. each. Desert Saucers to match above bowl, 40c. a dozen. 1-quart Plain Tin Sprinkling Cans, 5c. each.

2-quart Plain Tin Sprinkling Cans, 10c. each. Screen Doors, well made, walnut stained, 69c. each. Extension Window Screens—17 inches high; width extends from 27 to 34 inches—19c. each.

Extension Window Screens—21 inches high; width extends from 27 to 34 inches—27c. each. Tumblers—thin flint glass, banded—39c. dozen.

Desert Saucers—beautiful shape, cut-glass design—4c. each or 40c. a dozen. Fruit Saucers—5-in. Parisian—25c. a dozen. Fruit Bowls—12-in. Parisian—17c. each.

Heavy Earthen Flower-Pots, 1, 3, 5, 8, 10, 12 and 15c. each. Red Painted, Heavy Earthen Flower Pots (with saucers), 3, 5, 8, 10, 12 and 15c. each. 10-piece English Porcelain Toilet Sets—beautiful Columbine design—$2.25 a set.

12-piece English Porcelain Toilet Sets—pink, blue and brown Columbine design—$4.15 a set.

ATTRACTIVE VALUES ON SECOND FLOOR.

Never content with the successes of yesterday our Second Floor manager shows how very much in earnest he is about crowding his various departments with eager buyers. His way of doing so is much to your advantage. Details follow:

WAISTS.
Ladies' Dresden Silk Waist, made with tight-fitting lining and whalebones, large sleeves, high collar of black ribbon, bands of ribbon down front, around waist and extending from the shoulder, finished off with Persian pump (one of the latest), at $7.50.

Ladies' Dresden Silk Waist, made with full front and back, gathered at waist, with grass-linen inserting down front and over shoulder, latest style sleeves, crush collar and girde, with fancy bow in back, very stylish, $5 each.

Black Silk Taffeta with fine satin stripe, Dresden effect, tight-fitting lining, full front and back with box-pleat over shoulder, long sleeves, Bishop style, pleated collar, plain girde, very dressy, $5.

Also Black Taffeta Silk with black satin dash figure, full puff front, fancy standing, turn-down collar, new and nobby, $5.

SKIRTS.
Fancy Black Silk Brilliantine Skirts, rich patterns, ten gored, heavy, rustle lining, finished with velvet binding, a good $10 value, your pick, $3.50.

Big special in Navy and Black Cheviot Cloth, Tailor-Made Suits, lined with rustle lining, plaited back, full flare, blazer effect, large sleeves, good $7 value, our price, $5 each.

Also Strictly All-Wool Black Serge Suit, extra fine quality, blazer effect, large revers, full size sleeves, ripple back, right gored, rustle lining, a $10 value, our price, $8 each.

Extra value in Percalé Wrappers, assorted collars, in Persian and stripe designs, yoke front and back, with extra wide skirt, Watteau pleat, large sleeves, deep cuffs, and turn-down collar, $1 each.

Pretty designs in Lawn Wrappers, full gathered skirts, Bishop sleeves, perfect-fitting, shoulder yoke, deep, turn-back cuffs, $1.25 each.

White Duck Skirts, made with one deep flounce, headed with cord, gathered waist, good value, $1.65 each.

Extra wide Skirt, Pure Linen, umbrella style, with one flounce, edged with three cords, something new in the skirt line, just the thing, at $2.39 each.

Extra good value in Black Satine Skirts, made with one deep ruffle, three small tucks, full length and width, $1 each.

CURTAIN STUFFS.
White Swiss Dotted Curtain Muslin, full 40 inches wide, in small, medium and large size dot, also large and small dot combination, would be extra 15c. value, for 12 1-2c. a yard.

Entirely new, very stylish Curtain Scrim, with colored stripes, full 41 inches wide, 12 1-2c. a yard.

Also Plain Scrim for Bureau Scarfs, full 18 inches wide, with colored stripes, good quality, 10c. a yard.

Fine Silver Waist Sets, 29c.
Throw away your old studs and buttons. Add beauty to your Shirtwaist. Here's an offering that'll make the silver-ites open their eyes. Sterling Silver Waist Sets—warranted 925-1000 fine. Twelve different patterns, link cuff buttons, either separable back studs or post buttons. A complete 50c. set. For Monday only, 29c. set.

SPECIAL HOUR ITEMS. 11 to 12.

SHIRT WAISTS.
Our entire line of 25c. quality, consisting of Fancy Percale, Stripe, and Plain Tan, and Black, Blue, and White, Black and White Stripes, and many more designs—

Special One-Hour Sale, 11 to 12, 50c. Only one to each customer.

CORSET COVERS.
Nice Quality Cambric, all sizes, regular 15c. quality—

Special One-Hour Sale, 12 to 1, 9c. Only two to each customer.

DRESS GOODS.

The Dress Goods story for to-morrow is a short one, but one that amounts to a great deal to those having a Dress Goods thought. The following items are priced according to our idea of price-rightfulness:

Iridescent Novelty Dress Stuffs, new, rich colorings, 11c. the yard.

25-inch Beautiful Chambré Mohair, hand-made Dresden printing, 25c. the yard.

Flannel, Black Mohair, rich, lustrous black, 11c. the yard.

25-inch Strictly All-Wool Serge, perfect black, even weave, 25c. the yard.

40-inch very handsome Figured Mohair, large, stylish designs, 10c. the yard.

ELEGANT SILKS.
Not the fault of the maker, nor the fault of any one in particular, but it's owing to the general condition of the markets that these exquisite Silks are on sale at such an uncommonly low price.

10-inch very handsome Swivelled Taffeta Silks, exquisite colorings, rich Dresden printings, worth every cent of a dollar the yard, but priced 50c.

NOTIONS.
There are some stores that give all their attention to the big things and not a thought for the small ones. It's different here.

St. Thomas' Bay Rum, 10c. bottle. "Gardwood's" Violet Water, 10c. bottle. "Colgate's" Sachet Powder (any odor), 10c. package.

Women's Borated Talcum Powder, 15c. box. Pure "Onk" Lavender Salts, 25c. bottle. Bismark and Almond Cream Soap, 10c. box.

Arnica Tooth Soap, 25c. "Uncle Sam's" Tar Soap, 10c. cake. "Onk" Toilet Soap, 10c. box. Good Shaving Brushes, 5c. 8-inch Black Rubber Combs, 5c. 5-inch Hand Mirrors, 5c. Tape, 10c. roll. Good Wisk Brooms, 5c. Tan Leather Belts, 5c.

REED SHAKES HANDS.
No one needs the "Book of Bows" less than T. B. Reed, whose bow is the most substantial thing to be seen in a trip to Washington. It is in three parts, each divided from the other by abrupt pauses.

"Red has spied a friend. He stops and looks him in the face. The friend also stops. Both begin to smile—Reed spontaneously. The friend because he is delighted and awed by the man."

Third—A wringing of the hand, a cordial shaking, a friendly twisting, a heavy pumping of the arm, and, finally, a drop that sets both hand-shakers free, but leaves them thinking of the hand-shake for the next hour. This "bow" Reed repeats twenty times each block. During the bowing operation the Reed hat disappears in a mysterious way and is only fished out when time to move on.

MORTON'S BOW TELLS.
The Morton bow is the one that tells in a campaign. The owner of the bow is not gifted with a memory as phenomenal as some of his political brethren, but no one ever bowed as well to all who bow to him as Levi P. Morton.

As Mr. Morton drives from the executive mansion across Eagle street, Albany, to the capitol, he gazes to the right and to the left and wherever he sees a smiling face he salutes with one of his bows. As he enters the capitol it is bow, bow, right and left. The sleek tie is kept waving and the suave face has around the mouth the impenetrable dignity that was the admiration of Carnot and the envy of other foreign diplomats.

No matter how small a man may be in his own estimation, he rises with the rise of the Morton bow.

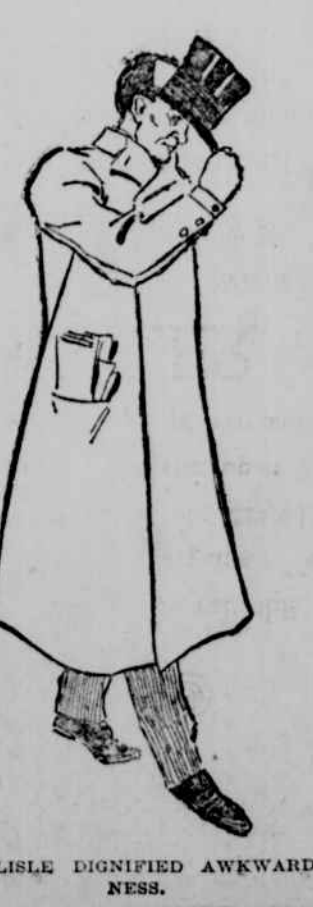

That maker of men, T. C. Platt, is not a bowler at all. He takes off his hat to no man and to few women. Yet his bow is such an absent-minded one that you forgive him and think he is busy making a slate or breaking one.

His lips do not move, his eyes do not sparkle, his cheeks do not wrinkle. There is an impenetrable gravity about the Platt bow that in either inspiring or depressing, according to the recipient, is a study down by the deepest of abstracted looks.

In a political campaign the ability to bow well is considered part of the battle. In old Roman days it was the accomplishment of remembering names and in the presence of ladies instead of giving the regular American bow. Sir Julian, on the contrary, lifted his hat with cordial ceremony, putting the President in the awkward position of being out-diplomated in his own capital city.

CRISP AND CLEVELAND BOW ALIKE
Julius Caesar, the greatest Roman of them all, employed a man of great memory to walk by his side and pronounce the name of every man who approached.

In our own lax days the name is not expected, and a salute, whether it be a quick one or a studied one, is valued by the recipient, who hurries away to put down a note to the effect that he will vote for the candidate whom he "knows personally," and from whom he gets a hat sign of recognition. The best bow gets the most votes. JAMES BARTON.

The Crisp bow has a cordial smile that goes with it. It isn't much of a bow. It is more "I am looking at you. Glad to see you. Hope you feel the same." That is not the implied feeling of reverence that is extended with certain very effective hat tipplings.

The Crisp bow to a man who studies personalities scientifically means a good open character, a manly straightforwardness and one who can be trusted both personally and publicly. None but an man with a pleasing face approached with a brisk air. "What, what, how's this?" he exclaimed, taking off his hat and waving a bow to the man and boy.

THE MORTON SALUTE TELLS.

"That's the boss," said the office boy, "and I guess he don't need no aid to his office door, a sweeping bow that took in the outsiders in the hall."

"That's the boss," said the office boy, "and I guess he don't need no aid to his office door, a sweeping bow that took in the outsiders in the hall."

"That's the boss," said the office boy, "and I guess he don't need no aid to his office door, a sweeping bow that took in the outsiders in the hall."

"That's the boss," said the office boy, "and I guess he don't need no aid to his office door, a sweeping bow that took in the outsiders in the hall."

"That's the boss," said the office boy, "and I guess he don't need no aid to his office door, a sweeping bow that took in the outsiders in the hall."

"That's the boss," said the office boy, "and I guess he don't need no aid to his office door, a sweeping bow that took in the outsiders in the hall."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.